

LET'S TALK: THE DIGNITY OF RISK AND TRANSITION

Tuesday, April 2nd from 6-7:30
via Zoom

TEXAS A&M
AGRILIFE
EXTENSION

Dr. Cheryl Grenwelge

No Real- World Opportunity Exists Without Some Level Of Risk. In this presentation, the following areas will be covered as it relates to transition planning and postsecondary opportunities:

- Start with the end in mind (Environmental, Skill Level Needed)
- Understanding Entitlement vs. Eligibility
- Parent's role
- Teacher's role
- Student role

About the presenter

Dr. Grenwelge is an Associate Professor and the Director of Extension Transition Services with the Center on Disability and Development at Texas A&M University. Cheryl is the director and co-project director of six national and state level projects. Dr. Grenwelge received her Ph.D. from Texas A&M University in May, 2010 from the Department of Educational Psychology. She has a B.S. in Special Education and a M.Ed. with an emphasis on Educational Diagnostics. She has teacher certifications in Special Education K-12, Elementary Education 1-8, and English as a Second Language. Previous to working with Texas A&M university, she was lead teacher of a large transition program at the secondary level.

RSVP via email by 4:00 on Thursday, March 28th to receive the Zoom link

Gwen Johnston, Director of Transition Services
gwendolyn.johnston@pisd.edu